FRANCE ACCEPTS AMERICAN NAVAL RATIO PLAN

AMERICAN PLAN IS ACCEPTABLE, SAYS DISPATCH

Settlement Made at Meeting Between Premier Briand and Ambassador Harvey

CLEARS THE ATMOSPHERE

Regarded as One of Biggest Steps Forward in Naval Ratio Negotiations

London, Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—France will accept the original naval ratio laid down by Secretary Hughes at the Washington conference, Premier Briand informed Col. Harvey, the American ambassador at the meeting last night. He authorized the ambassador to notify the American government to that effect.

CREATES SENSATION

Washington, Dec. 19—(By the Associated Press)—Unofficial advices from London and Paris saying France had accepted the naval ratio proposed for her by the American government created something of a sensation in armament conference circles today because the development generally was interpreted as marking one of the longest steps yet taken toward a naval reduction agreement.

Among those directly concerned in the latest phase of the ratio negotiations there has been a confident belief all along that the Paris government would accept.

Details of the settlement effected in London between Premier Briand and Ambassador Harvey had not been communicated officially to the armament delegates but The Associated Press dispatches announcing an agreement were received with general expressions of gratification.

The result, it was said, would be to clear the way at last for consideration of details of the naval program and perhaps for an early conclusion of the whole conference.

HEARS FROM BRIAND

Washington, Dec. 19—(By the Associated Press)—The meeting of the arms conference naval sub-committee of 15 was postponed until tomorrow at 11 o'clock by Chairman Hughes today, upon request of M. Sarraut, head of the French delegation. The committee had been called to meet today at 11 o'clock.

The French delegation through Ambassador Jusserand explained to Mr. Hughes by telephone that Mr. Sarraut had cabled to Premier Briand Saturday for further instructions and that a dispatch of some length had just been received from the Premier which would take some time to decode. Accordingly a delay of 24 hours was requested.

TURN IN THE ROAD

Washington, Dec. 19—(By the Associated Press)—Developments in the arms conference took a new and hopeful turn Saturday night when it became known that the French ten ship building plan was submitted without the approval of the Paris government and that direct conversations between China and Japan had brought the Shantung controversy close to a settlement. Naval sub-committee action toward a five-power pact on navel limitation awaits an answer from Premier Briand on hoth the ten ship project and upon the counter proposals by Great Britain, United States, Japan and Italy, that France accept a capital ship strength on 175,000 tons as compared to her present 164,000 tons in dreadnaughts.

A three-hour session of the sub-committee today was almost entirely taken up by Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation, in presenting views of French naval experts now here as to the naval needs of France. Secretary Hughes made a brief reply tending to stimulate good feeling among the committee members. The official communique, however, would admit nothing beyond the physical facts that the committee met, talked, adjourned and would meet again.

JOHNSON ASKS COMPROMISE ON PRINTING BILLS

Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson has addressed a letter to all state's attorneys asking them to confer with the county commissioners with a view of having the commissioners and publishers of official newspapers agree upon a price for the printing of delinquent tax lists.

Mr Johnson pointed out that the former attorney general ruled that chapter 93 laws of 1921 relating to the rates for legal printing, applie also to the fees for publication of the delinquent tax list. This has resulted in a very large increase in the cost of printing the tax lists the attorney general points out, and he suggest a way of reducing the cost which he is of the fact that counties are going to bid in the greater portion of lands offered for sale for taxes that a compromise be sought.

TRIBUNE REPORTER TRYS TO SETTLE WHO IS MOST COURTEOUS CLERK, BUT GIVES THE JOB UP

Who is the most courteous clerk in Bismarck?

A Tribune reporter decided to beat the Rotary club contest and find out right now. It ought to be easy—just a tour of the stores and then report and settle the thing right now, then walk right into the office and say: "I have settled it—call off the contest." But after the tour was over the reporter decided to hand the self-appointed task back to the Rotary club's contestants.

The matter can be settled all right, because one person may be more polite than another, but the friends of every clerk whose name is proposed in the contest had better stick loyally to him or her. There are a lot to choose from.

The reporter trailed a Christmas shopper. "I want to get something for father, grandfather, the baby and a cousin in college," was the first proposal put to a patient saleslady. "Can you help me." The clerk reeled off a list of suggestions that sounded as if she must have been reading a dictionary on Christmas giving.

The next shopper, down the aisle, wanted cloth for a skirt. What color. She wasn't exactly certain. The clerk pulled out several bolts but they didn't seem just right. "Couldn't I show you some cloth in a solid color," she asked. It was a good idea, for after bringing out several different shades of a solid color this customer decided on getting a skirt of printed material. Surely, that's the most courteous clerk in town, the reporter decided.

But later she noticed a customer that had been searching diligently in a pile for a particular article and finally gave it up. The pile was pretty badly disarranged and it would be the clerk's job to straighten it up again later, but she just smiled, pitched in, found the article and immediately sold it to the customer. There's courtesy for you, decided the reporter. And so on down the line.

"To be courteous is to be a good clerk," must be the motto. But it is much easier to be courteous when the buyer is too!

To find the most courteous is not an easy job. Friends of clerks who really appreciate the courtesies shown them surely will get their vote into the Rotary club contest and see that the prize is properly awarded.

It is gratifying to note that votes are now being received for men clerks. Enter your favorite today. Contest closes Friday, Dec. 23.

Lind who was arrested here at the request of the American Secret Service for alleged connection with the Wall Street bomb explosion of Sept. 1920 has made three written statements, one of which is in English and covers his activities for 16 years.

At the time of the explosion Mr. Morgan was in England.

OUTSIDERS GET BUSY ON SLOGAN

Many Are Submitted in Town Criers Contest

People living outside of Bismarck are taking fully as much interest in the Town Crier's contest to find a suitable slogan for the city as the residents of Bismarck.

Fully 50 per cent of the slogans received in the last few days have been from people living outside the city One person, writing from a well known Slope town, said:

"Write a slogan for Bismarck, I would be mighty proud to. I am suggesting some Bismarck to my mind is a wonderful little city With its historical background, its commanding position in western North Dakota, its promise for the future, it ought to be easy for one fired with imagination to write a slogan that would fill the bill it might seem strange that one living outside of Bismarck should take so much interest in writing a slogan for Bismarck, but there are many of us in the Slope country who also regard Bismarck as our city."

The slogans suggested are, of course, withheld.

The contest, in which $30 in prizes are offered, closes next Saturday

INDUSTRY BODY SEEKS LOAN ON HAIL WARRANTS

Discovery of Power Vested To Make Loan Results in Action of Commission

WOULD PAY OFF LOSSES

If Loan Can Be Floated All 1920 and 1921 Hail Warrants Will Be Taken Up

The Industrial Commission, at a meeting this morning, unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the secretary of the commission "forthwith to enter upon an investigation and to negotiate with dealers in securities in the country with the end in view of floating a loan upon the security of hail warrants in amounts sufficient to pay the losses incurred because of hail warrants by the farmers of this state during the year 1921."

The action was taken upon discovery that power is vested in the Commissioner of Insurance with assistance of Industrial Commission to float a loan. Governor Nestos Attorney General, Johnson and Commissioner of Agriculture Kitchen, comprising the industrial commission immediately held a meeting to formulate a plan to undertake the floating of a loan.

Resolution of Commission.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, it appears from the records in the state treasurer's and state auditor's offices ha the taxes are being paid and collected very slowly and that, therefore, the state hail insurance fund, out of which state hail warrants are required to be paid, is virtually depleted and, therefore, there are substantially no funds available in the treasury with which to pay hail warrants on account of losses by hail in 1921, and

Whereas, the persons who suffered loss by hail are in great need of funds with which to conduct their farming business and in many cases extreme and acute suffering and privation threaten to befall the persons entitled to such warrants because of such losses, and

Whereas, such hail warrants will not be payable out of funds collected in the ordinary manner from taxation until a year or more from now, and

Whereas, under and pursuant to the provisions of Section 23 of Chapter 38 of the Laws of the Special Session of the Sixteenth Legislative Assembly of 1919, the Commissioner of Insurance with the assistance of the Industrial Commission has the power to negotiate or float a loan whereby the State Hail Insurance Fund could pay its obligations in cash upon the certificate of the Commissioner of Insurance to the State Auditor and with the approval of the Governor,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Industrial Commission, all the members thereof being present and voting "Aye," that the Secretary of the Industrial Commission be, and he is hereby instructed, forthwith to enter upon an investigation and to negotiate with dealers in securities in the country with the end in view of floating a loan upon the security of hail warrants in amounts sufficient to pay the losses incurred because of hail suffered by the farmers of this state during the year 1921, and any losses remaining unpaid since 1920, such paper to be floated at the par value of the warrants so that the holders thereof may suffer substantially no loss.

Be It Further Resolved that a copy of this resolution be delivered by the secretary to the Commissioner of Insurance and that his co-operation be solicited and that it be recommended to him that he co-operate with such Industrial Commission in floating such loan for the benefit of the holders of hail warrants in North Dakota."

ESCAPED "LIFER" LED TO HIS HOME BY LOVE FOR MOTHER, IS CAPTURED; TO BE RETURNED TO STATE PRISON

Harry Smith, Who Escaped at Hebron Last Year While With Baseball Team, is Found in Ottumwa, Ia., at the Home of His Mother, According to Telegrams Received By Authorities—Was Serving Life Term For Murder

The magnet of home led to the capture of Harry Smith, escaped "lifer" from the state penitentiary, officials here declare.

Smith is under arrest in Ottumwa, Iowa, according to a telegram received by Warden Stair. Smith's mother lives in Ottumwa. He always had professed great love for her and, expecting him sooner or later to be drawn to her home, officials here had instructed the police in Ottumwa to watch the home closely. The result is the arrest of Wiley Mullnix, said to be Smith's correct name, although he was sentenced under the name of Smith in North Dakota.

Smith escaped at Hebron on September 5, 1920, with William Singleton when the prison baseball team played there. Smith was scorekeeper for the team. He was a "trusty." Men on the baseball team when sent out of town were placed upon their honor. Smith and Singleton escaped in the evening, while waiting for No. 4 to bring them back to Bismarck. It was the last baseball game of the season and their last chance to be away from the prison for the winter. The two stole the automobile of the chief of police from in front of a church, and abandoned it in the vicinity of Hettinger. They took a Milwaukee train and disappeared.

There have been reports that Smith and Singleton got to Mexico but no definite word had been received until the announcement from Iowa of Smith's capture. A Bertillon description of him is being sent to Ottumwa police so that they can check his identity by the fingerprint and measurement method.

In Prison Twice

Smith has been in prison here twice. He was sentenced Jan. 24, 1912 from Richland county for one year on a liquor charge. He was discharged Nov. 24 at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

He came back again May 23, 1916, being sentenced for life for murder in the first degree from Grand Forks county. He was a model prisoner and caused no trouble until his escape September 5, 1920. Smith was about 38 years old.

Smith received some money working in the prison twine plant. According to Beecher Stair, secretary to the warden, he thought a great deal of his mother. He wrote letters to her frequently and sent her all the money he could She is said to be an aged lady, living alone in the world.

Send for Noah

Extradition papers for the return of Daniel Noah, said to be captured at Hutchinson, Kansas, were being completed today and a man will leave for there tonigh.

HETTINGER MAN CHARGED WITH BANK WRECKING

Alleged Offense Was Committed in Missouri and Sheriff Seeks To Return Him

ANOTHER IS ARRESTED

Man Arrested in Montana is Lodged in Jail Here Awaiting Action of Governor

Application for extradition to Missouri of J. L. Hjort, of Hettinger, charged with complicity in the wrecking of a bank there, is being asked by Sheriff S. A. Gupton, of Palmyra, Missouri. A hearing was to be held before the governor today, and Hjort was to resist the application.

According to Sheriff Gupton, Hjort and his father, K. L. Hjort, obtained control of the People's State bank of Philadelphia, Missouri. They are charged, he said, with having brought a great deal of bad paper into the bank, some of it Texas loans, and to have caused the bank to be closed as a result. The amount, he said, was about $20,000.

R. E. Convert, former cashier of the bank, before J. L. Hjort, was arrested in Glendive, Montana, on a charge of complicity in the alleged bank wrecking. He was brought here by Sheriff Gupton and G. M. Rothweiler, a special deputy, and is held in the Burleigh county jail.

The sheriff will take back to Missouri Walter Harrison, now held at New Rockford. The sheriff said he was charged with stealing a load of wheat in Missouri and jumped his bond.

President Harding Nominates Andrew Miller, Local Attorney, to Be U. S. Judge

WOULD HOLD COURT HERE

Creation of Another Federal Judgeship Probably Means Court Chambers in Bismarck

The nomination of Andrew Miller, of Bismarck, to be federal judge for North Dakota, was sent to the United States Senate this afternoon by President Harding, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington. One other nomination went in at the same time, that of Elmer Dover, of Tacoma, Wash., to be assistant secretary of the treasury.

The nomination of Mr. Miller was made on recommendation of Senator McCumber. Senator Ladd had urged Seth Richardson, of Fargo. Delegations from North Dakota had urged the names of other attorneys for the position, and trips were made to Washington, a lively fight resulting over the proposal of Senator McCumber that Mr. Miller be named for the position.

The nomination must be confirmed by the senate.

The bill creating another federal judgeship was passed several months ago. It was said that there was necessity for another judge because of the illness of Judge Amidon.

He later located in Bismarck and was made assistant attorney-general in 1907-08, and was elected Attorney-General in 1909, serving three terms in that position, retiring in 1915. He is a senior member of the law firm of Miller, Zuger & Tillotson.

Mr. Miller has four children, Max and Milo, sons who served in the World War, a younger son, Kenneth, and daughter, Eleanor.

NO CHILDREN IN RUSSIA SAYS GORKY

They Are All Grown Up and Death Is Written On Their Faces

Stockholm Dec. 17.- Maxim Gorky, Russian novelist and formerly relief official, looked tired and ill when he arrived here enroute for Berlin He said his principal purpose in visiting Germany was to secure the printing of manuscripts which circumstances had not permitted to be done before.

"I have a big parcel," he said, "which I bring along and its contents are of the greatest importance to humanity, as they include a new method for the treatment of tuberculosis

In food and fuel Gorky said Russian scientists were comparatively well off, thanks to the support which they have had from abroad, but what they mostly needed was moral support encouraging them to new efforts and it was from that point of view that it was essential their works should be published.

"The position of Russian intellectuals is terrible and practically hopeless," said Gorky. "It means that as dreadful a catastrophe as could ever fall upon a nation has fallen upon Russia. Investigations made by Professor Manukin show that in Petrograd 22 per cent suffer from anemia, 29 per cent have cancer, 11 per cent are drunkards and 16 per cent gone mad.

"A few days ago two professors tried to escape from Petrograd. One succeeded in passing the frontier into Finland but the other one was shot.

Gorky said there were no children in Russia now. They were all grown up and death was printed on their faces. They were no more human beings, they were starving dogs. They had forgotten all human expressions except the one "give us bread," and incessantly day and night they cried for bread.

MANSLAUGHTER AGAINST KIRBY OF NORTHWOOD

Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 17—Arrest of Dr. Samuel R. Kirby of Northwood on a charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death of Ed. Strum, 20, of Mayville, on Dec. 5, followed the conclusion yesterday of the preliminary hearing of Dr. Kirby on the charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Treatment By Kirby

The manslaughter charge was sworn to by Pete Larson and Mabel Johnson of Mayville, uncle and sister, respectively, of the late Mr. Strum. The complaints charge that Strum went to Kirby on Nov. 18 for treatment for a minor cold. His throat was painted, they declared, and the day after he returned to Mayville he became ill and grew worse till his death on Dec. 5.

The undertaker at Mayville, it is said, refused to bury the body on the death certificate furnished and asked for a postmortem examination.

Dr. H. E. French, dean of the medical school of the University of North Dakota, and head of the public health laboratory, and Dr. Aldo C. Massaglia, professor of pathology and bacteriology, went to Mayville and with the assistance of doctors there made the postmortem examination.

Allege Blood Poisoning

They found, according to the complaint, that there was a pus formation from infection caused by the painting of the throat. This pus, according to their statement, seeped down into the lower neck and into the pleural cavities. As a result of this, septicemia, the medical term for blood poisoning, set in and caused death.

The postmortem examination also revealed, the charge declares, that the deceased had no tuberculosis, that all his organs were functioning normally and that he was not ill, except for the slight cold.

Kirby was released on $2,500 bonds and his preliminary hearing set for Dec. 29 before Justice McLoughlin.

No decision was rendered yesterday upon the charge of practicing medicine without a license, the court stating a desire to further consider the evidence.

DRASTIC CUT IS MADE IN PRICES ON BATTERIES

Price reductions ranging from 15 to 33 per cent, and bringing storage battery prices to the lowest poinnt in years are announced by the Prest-O-Lite Company, through the G. & W. Battery Co., their local representatives in Bismarck.

Millions of dollars will be saved to the motorists of America through this price revision, for the amount of money spent on storage batteries is now second only to tires in the automobile accessory field.

This is the third reduction the Prest-O-Lite Company has made within a year, and is the greatest reduction ever made in the history of the company. A 6-volt battery for Fords and other light cars, for instance, can now be bought (in exchange for an old battery) for $19.90. This identical battery would have cost $36.00 a year ago and $24.00 in 1917.

A 12-volt battery for Dodge and Franklin can now be bought for $32.30 (trade-in-price), against $41.30 yesterday, and $52.10 a year ago, effecting a saving of $21.80 in one short year to the car owner Proportionate prices hold on all other types

Prest-O-Lite's announcement created more than a little excitement along automobile row Over a period of years this company has usually taken the lead in price revision, but nothing like the present drastic cuts were expected

"Furthermore we have the assurance of our company," states the G. & W Battery Co., managers of the local Prest-O-Lite station at Bismarck, "that quality will not be lowered with the new prices In fact, Prest-O-Lite batteries are better today than ever before That is proven by the way they are holding up in service right here in Bismarck There have been various 'special' batteries offered during the past few months at cut prices, but this is a bona fide reduction of the entire line of one of the best known standard battery manufacturers. We should say that it is a big step toward normal in the battery business."

McCLINTOCK MAY NOT RETURN, SAYS - COURIER-NEWS

The Fargo Courier News today says the following concerning R. R. McClintock, editor, whose name was taken from the top of the editorial column yesterday, and who is charged with contempt of supreme court by Attorney-General Johnson:

Editor R. M. McClintock of The Courier-News left Fargo Tuesday morning to take his family to the home of Mrs. McClintock's parents in Oklahoma for the winter. When they left it was Mr. McClintock's intention to go only as far as St. Paul with his family and to return to Fargo in a day or two, Mrs. McClintock and the children to go the rest of the way alone.

Thursday evening Mr. McClintock called up The Courier-News from St. Paul, saying he was in doubt whether to return to Fargo. The League executive committee expects to get a definite statement from Mr. McClintock in a day or two as to what he intends to do.

In the meantime the editorials of The Courier-News are being written by John Andrews, well known to the farmers and workers of this state as former editor of this paper, the North Dakota Leader and associate editor of the Cooperators' Herald, which position he now holds. The executive committee is in charge of the management of The Courier-News thru P. L. Aarhus.

At the time of going to press no word had been received from Bismarck as to what the supreme court has done with the attorney general's request that McClintock be cited for contempt of court. This request was based on a letter published in The Courier-News criticising the court, and an editorial.

SERBIA ENJOYS GOOD HEALTH, CONTENTMENT

People Are Strong, Well Fed and Wear Finest Homespun Clothes

Nish, Jugoslavia, Dec 17—(By the Associated Press.)—Serbia today is practically free of epidemics or disease The population never enjoyed better health or more genuine contentment. The hospitals never held fewer patients. The death-rate seldom has been lower Doctors have rarely found it so difficult to make a living. This is regarded as remarkable in view of the fearful scourges which claimed half its population during the world war and the post-armistice period.

The correspondent, who visited Serbia at irregular intervals during 1918, 1919 and 1920, recently made another journey through the country. He noted an amazing change in the appearance of the people. The men and women looked strong, vigorous and well-fed. They wore the finest homespun clothing. The children were fat, rosy-cheeked and full of life. The babies were plump, bright-eyed and smiling. All were warmly clad. Everywhere the homes were examples of cleanliness, comfort and abundance.

No such picture could be found in Serbia in years previous. In 1918, for example, when the armistice mercifully intervened and saved Serbia from extinction, the correspondent saw men and women clad in rags, afflicted with disease, homeless and hopeless, dying of inanition as they walked. He observed babies wrapped in empty flour sacks, in newspapers, and even in pieced-together leaves the bones showing through their frail little bodies for want of sustenance or as a result of disease. He visited hospitals packed with typhus-ridden patients; orphanages overflowing with parentless children; asylums crowded with the feeble-minded and distracted.

But Serbia of 1921, or Jugoslavia, as it is more correct to call it, presents a different scene. The country has emerged from those years of misery, want and woe in an almost miraculous fashion. It is a changed nation not merely politically and territorially but physically and spiritually While the rest of the world has been squabbling over territorial boundaries, economic zones, reparations, indemnities and internal strife Jugoslavia has been "sawing wood" and minding her own business.

Her house is now completely in order And it is a model house for the rest of the world to see.

This metamorphosis, for such it must be called, may be ascribed first to the country's freedom from war; second, to the unceasing thrift and energy of its people; third, to the abundance of foodstuffs, clothing, medicines and other necessaries which the country up to now has lacked; fourth, to the material assistance given by the American Food Administration and the American Red Cross; fifth, to the self-sacrificing work of the Serbian doctor and sanitary authorities; sixth, to the sanitary and medical reforms introduced by American, British and French doctors and nurses during and since the war.

It would be difficult to find anywhere else in the world a people at once so happy, healthy, hopeful, prosperous and active as the Serbian peasantry. Certainly their counterpart cannot be found anywhere among the diverse races of the Balkan peninsula.

It is true that here and there a home has been saddened by the loss in war of a husband or a brother or a father; but taken collectively it may be said that the welfare of the Jugo-Slav was never better; their morale seldom higher; their usefulness as factors to society never more apparent, their future never more full of promise.

BETTER THAN NEW

That's Our Promise.

It is a well known scientific fact that motor blocks improve with age—or seasoning, and, that once a casting has ceased to warp, or has found its "set," it is far better than new. Some manufacturers hasten the process a bit by annealing, which softens the castings, making wear more rapid.

We regrind motor blocks, correcting all error due to "warp," fit new pistons and rings, and guarantee the motor to be better than when new

TAX PROCEDURE IS EXPLAINED BY COLLECTOR

Gunder Olson, Internal Revenue Collector, Outlines Income Tax Methods

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Gunder Olson, for the district of North Dakota:

"Merchants, manufacturers and business men generally need experience no difficulty in taking their inventories for the year 1921 to conform with the new revenue act. The language of the revenue act of 1918 and the revenue act of 1921 (Sec 203), relating to inventories are identical.

"That whenever in the opinion of the commissioners the use of inventories is necessary in order clearly to determine the income of any taxpayer inventories shall be taken by such taxpayer upon such basis as the commissioner, with the approval of the secretary, may prescribe as conforming as nearly as may be to the best accounting practice in the trade or business, and as most clearly reflecting the income.'

'Present treasury regulations provide that inventories must be valued at either 'cost' or 'cost or market whichever is lower.' Taxpayers were permitted, regardless of their past practice, to adopt the 'cost or market basis, whichever is lower' in taking their inventories for 1920. Thereafter the regulations provide, changes can be made only after permission is obtained from the commissioner of internal revenue.

"In the case of a merchant 'cost' means the invoice price less trade or other discounts, excepting strictly cash discounts approximating a fair rate of interest, which may be deducted or not at the option of the taxpayer, providing a consistent course is followed. To the net invoice price should be added the cost of transportation and other necessary charges incurred in acquiring possession of the goods.

"In the case of a manufacturer 'cost' means the cost of raw materials and supplies, expenditures or labor and indirect costs incident to production, including a reasonable proportion of management expenses, but not including any cost of selling or securing return on capital.

"'Market' means the current bid price prevailing at the date of the inventory for the particular merchandise. The burden of proof as to the correctness of the price rests upon the taxpayer in each case. Where no open market quotations are available, the taxpayer must use such evidence of a fair market price at the dates nearest the inventory as may be available such as special transactions or compensation paid for cancellation of contracts or purchase commitments. Where, because of abnormal conditions the taxpayer has regularly sold merchandise at prices lower than the market bid price, the inventory may be valued at such prices. The correctness of such prices will be determined by reference to the actual sales of the taxpayer for a reasonable period before and after the date of inventory. Prices which vary materially from the actual prices so ascertained will not be accepted as reflecting the market.

"The value of each item in the inventory may be measured by cost or market whichever is lower. An entire stock may not be inventoried at cost and also at market price, and the lower of the two inventories used. Inventories on whatever basis taken will be subject to investigation by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and the taxpayer must satisfy the commissioner of the correctness of the prices adopted. He must be prepared to show both the cost and the market price of each article included in the inventory.

'In the conduct of modern business it is of the utmost importance that every business large or small, whether corporation, partnership or individual shall maintain an exact record of receipts and expenses. No special system of accounts is prescribed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, but the books should show in detail inventories, purchases, sales, capital investments, depreciation, and similar items required in making up income tax returns."

STILLS SEIZED IN RAIDS MADE BY U. S. OFFICERS

Eight moonshine whisky stills were confiscated 2,500 gallons of mash destroyed together with nearly 1,000 gallons of completed moonshine during a two-day raid by federal prohibition agents at Glen Ullin and New Salem.

One of the stills seized was equipped with a 25 lead coil, the "one thing needed to insure the moonshiner that he is turning out deadly poison" as one of the federal agents described it.

The other stills were, in some instances, elaborate affairs, and in nearly every instance capable of turning out fifteen gallons of moonshine per day.

Dickinson Man Appears on Screen

Dickinson, N. D., Dec. 19. It isn't every man who can see himself perform in the movies. Nevertheless this was the experience of John Morgenthaller well known Dickinson boy, this week, when he witnessed the film play "Dangerous Toys," at the Ray Theater. Morgenthaller took the part of "Jack Gray" in the film.

Two years ago, Morgenthaller, who is an actor of ability, spent considerable time on the Pacific coast where he appeared in stock companies as well as in the movies and it was while there that he assisted in the filming of 'Dangerous Toys" at one of the large moving picture studios in California.

When the fact became known that Morgenthaller was to appear in the picture here many of his friends attended and recognized him as he appeared in the scenes while Morgenthaler himself recalled bygone days as the picture flashed before him.

Morgenthaller, who is an old Company K boy and also served overseas during the World war, has given up the stage, is married and is now employed by the Walton & Davis company.

ARCADIA GREAT AERIAL CENTER

Is The First Airship School In The West

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 19. Arcadia, 16 miles from here, becomes one of the great aerial centers in the United States with the enlargement of the Army Balloon School at Ross Field there to an Army Balloon and Airship School. The war department has sent the largest non-rigid airship ever seen on the Pacific coast, the Airship D3 which participated in the recent aerial bombardment of the German battleships off Hampton Roads, Va. This is added to a pony blimp, 20 captive balloons and eight free baloons now at the post. It is the first airship school in the west, and similar to the army school at Langley Field, Hampton, Va.

Construction work is under way for two great steel hangars at the field. The Airship D-3 is 198 feet long, 1 feet 2 inches wide and 58 feet high. It has a cruising radius of 790 miles at the cruising speed of 45 miles an hour, and a radius of 550 miles at high speed 60 miles an hour. A crew of four operates the great airship. There are accommodations aboard for three additional officers.

The pony blimp which has been in operation at Ross Field since March is of the tractor propulsion type, being 95 1-2 feet long and 30 feet wide. It has a capacity of 35,350 cubic feet of gas, operated by two men, pilot and engineer, one of whom also operates the radio. The speed is 45 miles an hour at cruising with a radius of 550 miles and 55 miles at high speed, with a radius of 480 miles.

The enlargement of the school provides that airship pilots will be graduated in addition to balloon observers.

The A type airship is 162 feet long 39 feet wide and 47 feet high with a capacity of 95,000 cubic feet of gas non-rigid type. A crew of three pilot, radio operator and engineer operates the craft which has a cruising radius of 1700 miles at the cruising speed of 46 miles per hour and a radius of 115 at high speed 60 miles an hour.

The airships are equipped with radio telephone instruments, as well as radio telegraph, the radius being over 20 miles.

RECEIVERS CAN BE REMOVED, IS OPINION GIVEN

C. L. Young Cites Laws For Guaranty Fund Commissioner on Receiverships

SOME REFUSE TO QUIT

Power to remove receivers is lodged in the state examiner, according to an opinion furnished the Guaranty Fund Commission by C. L. Young, Bismarck attorney, engaged by the commission to investigate and report upon many legal matters connected with the administration of the affairs of closed banks.

The matter will be brought directly before District Judge Pugh at Dickinson Wednesday when the Guaranty Fund Commission, as intervener, will request Judge Pugh to rescind his appointment of receivers, and the case of C. L. Merrick for the removal of the previously appointed receivers of banks in New England, Havelock and Amidon is up for hearing.

In concluding his opinion Mr Young says:

"In short, the examiner, upon his conclusion that a bank is insolvent, may take charge of it and wind up its affairs. Undoubtedly he may place a deputy examiner directly in charge, subject to his orders, or he may with the approval of the banking board, appoint a receiver to take possession of the bank under his direction, but the receiver in such case is placed in charge subject to the state examiner's orders and at all times is under his direction. Primarily the duty of winding up the affairs of the bank and determining the manner in which its business shall be liquidated rests upon the examiner and the receiver when appointed [illegible] [illegible] is my opinion [illegible] power of removal.

Cite Federal Statutes.

[illegible] statutes [illegible] says [illegible] of the [illegible] banking law [illegible] of the currency [illegible] insolvency of a bank [illegible] receiver, who [illegible] direction of the comptroller [illegible] take possession of the books, records and assets of the defunct bank [illegible] and claims belonging [illegible]

The opinion was given in response to a request by the commission. Several receivers appointed by O. E. Lofthus, [illegible] bank examiner, have refused to resign, and Mr Young's opinion is that the examiner has power to summarily remove them. Some of them are charged with having wasted assets of closed banks.

In another opinion to the Guaranty Fund Commission Mr Young holds that a stockholder in an insolvent bank may not use his deposits in a closed bank to offset his liability to assessment as a stockholder.

"The liability imposed by section 5168 constitutes a trust fund to which stockholders of such bank must contribute if the primary assets are inadequate for the express purpose of meeting the contracts, debts and engagements of the bank. To permit him to offset with deposits would be to make him a preferred creditor."

PARIS IS SCENE OF INTER-ALLIED VETERANS MEET

Hanford Macnidre Says Federation To Do Much to Prevent Future Wars

Paris, Dec. 19.—In a message to the Inter-Allied Veterans Federation which opened its second annual conference here today Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, declared the federation "will be a stronger factor toward the prevention of future war than any limitation of armaments conference or any international agreements."

The federation is a union of veterans' societies which are made up of men who fought in the armies and navies of seven of the Allied countries during the world war. Delegates are present from the United States, the British Empire, including overseas dominions, France, Belgium, Italy, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. The American member of the federation is the American Legion.

Commander MacNider's message was presented by William B. Follett, of Eugene, Ore., former national vice-commander of the Legion, and chairman of the American delegation of five. Mr. Follett also extended an invitation on behalf of the American Legion to the federation to hold its next world meeting in New Orleans in October, 1922, in connection with the fourth national convention of the American Legion.

Commander MacNider's message follows:

"The American Legion sends you greetings with the earnest hope that this meeting and the year ahead may be filled with great achievements for the cause of all ex-service men, for the countries for which we fought and for the civilized world.

"Our Union is sealed and the strength of our friendship and comradeship is a guarantee to the world of happier days and a future pregnant with opportunities to bind even closer the strongest ties men can have—those of serving side by side in battle against the foes of civilization.

"It is our belief that the time is nearly ripe for concerted action toward the great ends to which we are pledged in spirit. The Inter-Allied Veterans Federation composed of men and with constant thought of those who with open eyes and vivid memories of those experiences which only can be gained upon the field of battle, will be a stronger factor toward the prevention of future wur than any limitation of armaments conference or any international agreements.

"We pledge to you—in memory of our comrades who did not come back, and with constant thought of those are blind, maimed and broken must live the war forever—that the people of the world shall have the opportunity to say that such things must never come again.

"We must build up our legions so big and fine and strong, and tie them into our national existences by such firm bonds of service, that our great nations will stand behind the men who offered their lives for the defense of liberty. That is our first task.

"Our next task stands clearly before us, and for this great service to humanity, we pledge ourselves to you—our comrades of yesterday, today and tomorrow."

These Oakland Features Make Possible The Special Guarantee

The new and remarkable features embodied in the Oakland engine—features which have made possible the sweeping Oakland guarantee—are causing considerable comment throughout the automotive industry.

Oakland's special design and construction of cylinders, pistons and piston rings have supplied the much-sought-for means of eliminating an annoying trouble familiar to drivers of motor cars—"oil pumping".

Just how fully Oakland engineers have solved this problem for motorists—particularly in these times of low grade fuels and oils—is best proven by the terms of the Oakland 15,000 mile written guarantee against "oil pumping."

Read this unusual guarantee—when you come in to inspect the five attractive models on exhibition.

AT THE MOVIES

LAVISH PHOTOPLAY IS "ROOM AND BOARD"

"Room and Board," Constance Binney's latest photoplay, which is the feature this week at the Rialto, Monday and Tuesday, is the most lavishly produced and picturesque of any of her Realart productions.

The star plays the role of Lady Noreen Kildoran, the only child of an impoverished Irish baronet, who is killed in the hunting field, leaving his daughter as her sole inheritance the family pride and the ancestral castle, covered with moss and mortgages. The castle scenes and those in the quaint Irish village near the estate are unusually well done. Over two hundred extras and many animals appear in these picturesque village scenes.

OPENING DAY

Based upon the popular novel "Mamselle Jo," from the pen of Harriet T. Comstock, and directed by Louis J. Gasnier, producer of "Kismet" and other notable film productions, "Silent Years," an R-C Picture, will be screened for the first times at the Bismarck Theater today. "Silent Years" reflects much of the same skill of direction with which Mr. Gasnier invested his other great productions for R-C Pictures. The development of the theme is accomplished in masterful fashion. The spirit of the story is one of self-sacrifice and the action takes place among the rugged peoples who live in the valley of the St. Lawrence River in Canada. Those in the cast are Pauline Starke, Rose Dione, Tully Marshall, George M'Daniel, George Seigman, Will Jim Hatton, Jack Mower, Jack Livingston, Ruth King, Kate Toneray, Lillian Rambeau, Jean O'Rourke and Ruth Ashby.

JUSTICE ROBINSON AND BAR BOARD

It has been the custom of The Tribune to publish Judge Robinson's letters as a news feature They have become popular weekly contributions to the circle of Tribune readers. For the most part the venerable jurist has been sound in his conclusions.

The Tribune has always disagreed with the political affiliations and convictions of Judge Robinson, but of late he has shown a decided independence of attitude on public issues that has brought down upon his head the maledictions of many Nonpartisan League officials.

Even when the League was in the heydey of its power, Judge Robinson was as a voice crying in the wilderness. He opposed many league movements. He scored many league office holders for increasing tax levies and in his fight to bring about reduced budgets, he appeared before the league controlled senate and read the members a very necessary lecture which unfortunately for them they did not heed.

Now Judge Robinson singles out the bar board and more especially its chairman as the subject of his weekly sermons on public economy.

In fairness to the bar board, The Tribune merely wishes to state that the law places at the disposal of the members certain funds derived from registration fees of attorneys. As far as The Tribune knows these funds have been disbursed in accordance with law. Whether in the interest of public economy is another question. Judge Robinson is positive that the tax is unnecessary and that the money as disbursed is virtually squandered as far as the public receives any commensurate benefit.

The Tribune is in complete accord, however, with Judge Robinson when he scores the attorney license law and the pool hall inspection department. Both might be dispensed with to a great saving. There seems no need to place as Judge Robinson names it "a head tax" on attorneys. A modest appropriation is all that is necessary to administer a bar board. The expense could easily be defrayed by an entrance fee charged applicants for admission to practice in North Dakota.

When any board is given $10,000 or $15,000 the temptation to spend it often from the best of motives is ever present. There is no evidence that any of the funds has been applied in an illegal manner or used for any purpose other than was legitimately intended by the framers of the bar board law.

The Tribune feels, however, that the cost of the bar board to the state is excessive and that progress could be made by holding stated meetings upon notice generally published. A few meetings a year should suffice to handle the bar board business.

Members of the board as far as The Tribune knows are honorable and upright men and probably can if they desire reply to Judge Robinson's criticisms. The columns of The Tribune are always open to any defense of the present system they may desire to give.

But as to the criticisms of Judge Robinson being libelous, The Tribune takes issue with the bar board. If it is libel to discuss public expenditures and to comment upon the propriety of such disbursements, then every paper in the nation utters libel daily. It is hardly likely that Judge Robinson, learned in the law, would commit libel and The Tribune heartily agrees with him that in this instance no libel has been done anyone. The acts and expense accounts of public officials are open to the public and censure or commendation of them surely is privileged matter.

Public officials often squander funds committed to their care without intent of wrong or fraud. Judge Robinson impugns no one's honesty when he asserts that the bar board funds are squandered. He argues from the general premise that the law which creates this fund is unnecessary and hence the disbursement of the mony is a waste or squandering of public funds.

The attorneys who compose the bar board, all of them reputable lawyers, have taken Judge Robinson too seriously so far as his charges may apply personally to them, but the public would like to hear what they have to say in defense of the attorney tax fee and its necessity to the proper functioning of a state bar board.

BUILDER

Ceremonies in honor of the late Lord Stephen, one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stir up brain cells and recall Jim Hill and other "empire builders" in railroading.

Railroad building pulled America out of the panic that followed the Civil War. For over half a century, our civilization followed new railroad construction.

In 1920, extensions to our railroads ("first lines") were only 314 miles of tracks. Will history repeat and railroad activity lead us out of the wilderness again? Steel men think so. But, first, railroads must be lead out of the financial wilderness.

CIRCUITS OF VICTORY

The greatest invention ever discovered by man is communication. Its first form was human speech — the power to transmit knowledge from one brain to another. This exchange of thoughts is the basis of all civilization.

The second step in communication was the invention of writing, by which human speech was conveyed by the eye instead of the ear, transferring thoughts to the man miles away in the jungle.

Many thousands of years passed before man made his third step in communication—the invention of a device to carry the human voice over great distances.

This invention was the telephone, born in the creative brain of Alexander Graham Bell in 1876. The telegraph was its forerunner.

A little less than seven years ago Bell and Thomas A. Watson, who helped him invent the telephone, opened the first transcontinental telephone line between San Francisco and New York. You can hear over that line now as plainly as you telephone across the street—your voice traveling 3400 miles through 740 tons of copper in a fifth of a second.

Recently we have the wireless telephone—phantom speech.

Wouldn't that astound the other two great inventors who created speech and writing!

A great historical book has just been published from the pen of A. Lincoln Lavine. It's called "Circuits of Victory," recording the great part in the World War by the telephone.

The telephone, American invention, has revolutionized warfare as it has revolutionized civilization.

Great battles in the past often were lost by inability to communicate. The power to communicate regulates the element of time, which in turn controls military strategy and tactics.

The telephone in the World War saved millions of lives, by making it unnecessary for millions of message carriers to expose their persons to death.

In future wars each soldier will have a wireless telephone in his pocket, in touch with his command, without the risk of venturing into the open.

The war, horrible at is was, advanced civilization in many branches, short-cutting time. It stimulated development of communication, flying, mechanical production and surgery.

Most valuable of these probably was the advancement of wireless communication. Peace thus make a definite gain.

Thirty-four million telephone conversations are carried on daily over the Bell lines, millions more independently.

Will we live to see the wireless phone displace the copper wire? It is not improbable. Communication then would be universal and instantaneous, regardless of location—the basis of a real civilization.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A NEW TYPE OF AMBASSADOR

Dr. Adolf Lorenz of Vienna, the world's most famous exponent of bloodless surgery, is a new type of ambassador.

The doctor announces that he is not to go into practice in America or accept patients, but will devote his time and skill to the correction of certain types of malformation in the little poor children of the charity hosptals and, if possible, to bringing American and Austrian surgeons into friendly contact once more.

And he undertook this mission to the United States in order to render some expression of gratitude to the American people for what they have done to relieve the unspeakable distress in his native land.

The incident of Dr. Lorenz's mission serves to remind us of the better influences that are finding expression in a disordered world, and how sundered friendships may be restored and the healthful processes of good will and refraternization promoted.

Not less admirable is the ethical standard exhibited by Dr. Lorenz. He might obtain scores of wealthy patients and quickly replenish his wrecked fortunes in the United States, for it will be remembered when he was in America before he was offered numerous cases by wealthy people in all parts of the country.

But in his view, to accept pay ceases would defeat his true mission, which is to show as far as he can how deeply America's kindness to the starving children of his own country is appreciated. So his work will be confined to malformations in children of the poor in charity hospitals who are unable to secure the scientific treatment which he, as the outstanding scientist in bloodless surgery, is so competent to render.

Dr. Lorenz is really an ambassador worth while. —Houston Post.

SOMETHING NEW TO HOWL AT

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The two magic shovels that the Twins found in the Enchanted Cupboard were wonderful things. They were like the spoon that the witch gave the poor maiden to dip out the sea, for at every shoveful a whole barrow-load of golden glitter came out of its hiding place in the earth and jumped into a great sack that Pim Pim had ready.

Soon the sack was filled and Pim Pim called a thousand of his Brownies to tie it up and carry it away to his storehouse until it was needed.

When they had dug up enough golden glitter for all the stars and bugles on the Christmas trees the Twins started on the silver sheen. It, too, jumped from the earth at the very touch of the enchanted shovels and into another great sack.

Soon the mine of silver sheen was about empty, so the children went on to another where the ruby-red was to be found, while the Brownies busily tied up the sack of silver-sheen and bore it off.

And so it went until Pim Pim's storehouse was completely full of all the glittery colors that Santa Claus and the toy-maker could possibly need for the tree-toys.

"And now," said Pim Pim, "I'll call the Fairy Queen to send us some messengers, and we'll get this stuff to Santa Claus at once. Time is so very, very short."

But scarcely had he spoken when the Magical Mushroom appeared, also Nimble Toes and Silver Wing, the Fairy Queen's messengers. "We'll all help," said the Mushrooms, picking up one of the sacks in his arms.

Away through the air flew the strange procession making straight for the North, carying to Mr. Santa a precious burden.

Santa and the toy-maker had just finished the last doll and drum. "Now for the tree-toys," sang out Santa. "Why, bless my soul, here comes Pim Pim and the Twins now."

PEOPLE'S FORUM

TAKES EXCEPTION

Bismarck, N. D.

Editor Tribune:

In your editorial, "On the Job Again," in the Tribune for Saturday, last, you comment upon the warning of the Dairy Commission, against promiscuous organization of creameries, etc., and add: "All forms of farm activity have passed through a period of speculation and exploitation." This warning is very proper and timely indeed, it is always timely. But when you state in the last paragraph that "factories are far from operating at their peak," and still urge that "when the supply has been increased, there will be sufficient facilities to turn the raw material into the finished product" it seems to me a bit illogical.

Why should the manufacturer be commended for his wisdom in curtailing his production, when production means loss, and the farmer be urged to increase his production regardless of that principle? The farmer has grown tired of that teaching and has as much right as any other business man, to sound the marketing conditions before he produces the stuff.

To listen to this kind of advice, to simply produce promiscuously and trust to the generosity of an unsanctioned mart, for compensation of our labor, would surely be like accepting "the promise of both ends of the rainbow." Why not lay off on this urging the farmer to produce and, instead teach him elementary business principles in selling, the same as every other industry practices?

Why don't we ever hear or read of the manufacturer being urged to increase his output, and to ask no questions in order that the users of his product may benefit by lower prices even though such prices may be confiscatory to the manufacturer?

Can you blame the farmer for growing weary and suspicious of such advice?

GOLD FROM LEAD

Hereward Carrington Explains How Transmutation May Be Made

BY HEREWARD CARRINGTON.
Scientist and Author.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Thomas A. Edison confidently expects the transmutation of lead into gold.

For centuries this has been the quest of man.

In the early seventies, however, Sir William Crookes brought forward certain evidence tending to show that all matter has a common basis, and he proposed a name, "prothyl," for this substance. The idea did not gain great headway, however, until the discovery of radio-activity, which threw an entirely new light upon the constitution of matter.

Until then it has been supposed that the "elements" were simple and indivisible; that the atom was the smallest particle of matter in the universe, and that these atoms represented the "building stones of the Cosmos."

Atom Itself Can Be Divided.

Studies in radio activity proved that the atom itself is capable of being split up into still smaller particles, known as "electrons;" but these electrons are not composed of matter at all, but electricity! Hence arose the modern "electrical theory of matter."

This theory says that all matter is ultimately electrical at basis; that the atom is exceedingly complex in nature, and is built up somewhat like our solar system, with a central nucleus in the middle (like our sun) and a number of particles revolving about it, as our planets revolve round the sun.

The distances between them would be as great, proportionately, as the distances between the various planets and the sun, in our solar system.

The central nucleus, on the modern theory of matter consists in a negative charge of electricity, while the particles revolving around it are charges of positive electricity. These differ in number, and the various "elements" are merely qualities of the atom, due to the dinerences between the number of the positive charges within the atom itself.

How Elements Can Be Changed.

It will thus be seen that, in order to change one element into another, it would only be necessary, theoretically, to alter the number of positive electrons in any given atom. Add or subtract one, two, three or more, and the element changes into another element.

We see this process going on spontaneously in all radio-active elements — when, uranium, for instance, changes into radium, and that in turn into ionium, and so on until it becomes lead, which has been thought to be the "end product."

Hitherto it has been impossible to retard or accelerate these changes artificially, but lately this has been done, on a small scale, by bombarding certain atoms with radium emanations (a terrific energy). Changes in the element have thus been brought about; actual transmutation has been accomplished by Rutherford, Soddy and Ramsey.

BEACH RESIDENT REPORTS HOLDUP

Beach, N. D., Dec. 19.—Frank Sticka, the harnessmaker, reports that at five o'clock Friday morning a man held him up at the point of a gun at the crossing over the railway tracks where the signal bell is located. According to Sticka's story he was coming over to town from home when a masked man arose from hiding behind the bell tower, and, pointing a big gun at him demanded his money. Sticka only had a quarter on him, and a search revealing nothing more in the way of coin, Frank says the bandit gave the two-bits back, saying it was no good to him, and jumped on a freight that just then started west.

Flies can fly from five to 35 feet a second.

American Legion To Care For Needy

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19.—Disabled veterans and their dependents in every community in the United States will be cared for Christmas day by American Legion members, according to plans announced today by national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization.

Visits to the homes of sick and wounded ex-service men and to their families will be made by the Legionaires and special committees will take care of the men still in hospitals. Entertainments and presents will be provided for the incapacitated veterans.

In connection with the Christmas visits, Legion investigators will obtain information in regard to striking cases of neglect of the disabled and their families, following which action the members of the local posts will take up the claims of these men with the government and will assist their families in getting proper care

Information in regard to the location of disabled men will be ascertained through Legion post meetings, the Red Cross, local medical organizations, county and city officials, and, if necessary, through house-to-house work by Legion committee

"This is not a charity affair" said Hanford MacNider, National Commander of the Legion, "it is the Christmas thought of one ex-service man for another who would expect his buddies to remember him if the positions were reversed. It does not matter whether the disabled lad is a Legion man or not, it is a Christmas greeting between ex-service men"

Washington, Dec 19—Mrs Sidney Small, member of the city council of Toronto, has gone back to Canada, carrying an invitation to Canadian women to send delegates to the third annual meeting of the Pan-American Conference of Women in Baltimore next April.

The invitation comes from the National League of Women Voters which is promoting the Baltimore meeting. Delegates have been invited from all South American countries

Cooking Parsnips

Parsnips are one of the cheapest and best of the winter vegetables. In themselves parsnips are a starchy food, but combined with egg and fried in deep fat their food value is increased.

As parsnips are a light colored vegetable they should be served with a dark meat.

If plain boiled parsnips are taboo in your family, try dressing them up in one of the follows ways:

Parsnips Balls.

Six parsnips, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup flour, 1 egg.

Wash and scrape parsnips. Boil in salted water till tender. Drain and mash. Season with butter, salt and pepper. Add flour and egg well beaten. Form into small balls

Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with one tablespoon water, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep, hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve.

Parsnip Cake.

Boil and mash parsnips as in preceding recipe Add butter and finely rolled cracker crumbs. Form in little flat cakes and fry in a little butter and bacon fat in a frying pan till a delicate brown. If dried bread crumbs are used add one teaspoon sugar to parsnips when seasoning

Creamed Parsnips.

Wash and scrape parsnips. Cut in to dice Boil in salted water for half an hour Drain. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a sauce pan. Add parsnips and sift over two tablespoons flour. Stir until our, butter and parsnips are well mixed.

Then pour on slowly 1 1-2 cups milk, stirring constantly and being careful not to crush the parsnips Season with salt and pepper and cook five minutes after the sauce thickens This amount of sauce will cover six medium sized parsnips

Glaced Parsnips.

Four parsnips, 1-2 teaspoon salt 1-4 teaspoon pepper 1 dessertspoon sugar 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons hot water

Wash and scrape parsnips Cut in slices three-fourths of an inch thick Put each piece flat in a big pan or spider with a close fitting cover Sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar Dot with bits of butter and pour in the hot water at one side of the pan Cover tightly and cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour or until tender Remove cover and brown in a very hot oven

Mashed Parsnips.

Six parsnips, 3 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Wash and scrape parsnips and boil in salted water until tender Drain thoroughly in a colander. Rub through a fine sieve. Return to the sauce pan, season with salt and pepper, add butter and heat, stirring vigorously. Serve very hot.

Parsnip Fritters.

Boil parsnips and cut in slices about 1-2 inch thick. Dip in frying batter and gry in deep hot fat to a golden brown. To make the frying batter, sift 4 tablespoons flour and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add 1 teaspoon melted butter and stir lightly. Beat in 1-2 cup warm water.

Beat well for five minutes and let stand for half an hour. Fold in the whites of 2 eggs beaten till stiff and dry. Use as needed.

ALLEGE FIRE PROTECTION POOR

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 19 —Charges were made to the city commission Wednesday by C. S. Whittlesey, manager of the Western Adjustment and Inspection Co. that Fargo's $89,000 fire of last Saturday night was a "direct, tangible and actual result of inadequate fire protection."

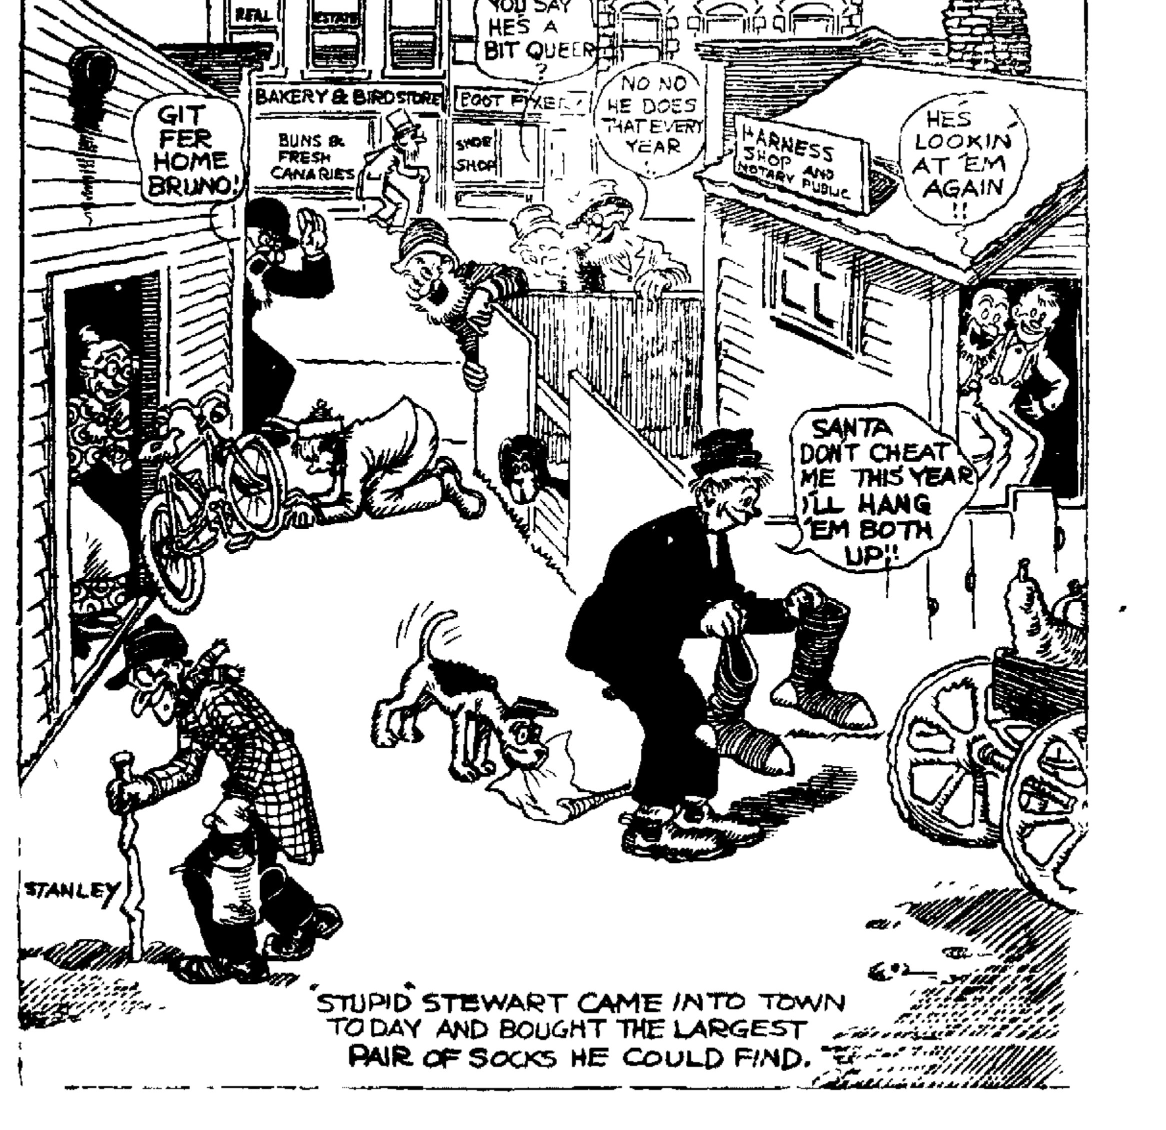

He declared that the conflagration hazard under present conditions due to enforced economy measures adopted by the city commission following the decisions of the state supreme court on the tax limitations act is very acute, and as a citizen and taxpayer he said he protested against this lack of adequate fire protection

August Hanson, commissioner of fire and water, remarked that he thought Whittlesey's charge was unjust and unfair.

SHE RUNS A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE; COULD YOU?

By NEA Service

Kearney, Neb Dec 19—Can a woman run a chamber of commerce?

Kearney says so—and says it loudly.

Three years ago the Kearney Chamber of Commerce had 113 members, a $7,000 debt and a lack of enthusiasm

Then Mrs. Esther Stock Kroger was elected secretary despite the opposition of a group of hardshells

Today the organization has 400 members, money in the bank and oodles of "pep."

"Every week I called up every member and invited him to a Monday luncheon. No man can resist a woman's invitation, so they all came.

"I had them fed well—and that counted And I seated them at a number of small tables, all the members of a committee at one table.

"I had 50 members out on the board of directors. Fifty directors means 50 boosters."

FOOTBALL ON STAGE AFTER USUAL SEASON

Interest Shown in Game Unequalled By That in Past Seasons

The football season is long past but football news is keeping its place in the sporting page with greater tenacity than in past years. Attempts to [illegible] at [illegible] [illegible] the wide spread search [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] and Howard Jones of Iowa will pilot a starless Hawkeye team to meet the Bulldog of brother Tad both players being former players on the same Bulldog aggregation.

An Unequal Contest

This latter game is the occasion of mournful thoughts to most followers of western football. Given equal conditions and the football men of the west would not worry. Champions this year it goes east as the representative of the best the west has, to meet what was this year a mediocre, but young and promising team of the east. Differences of training conditions make the meeting an unequal contest. Brother Howard can meet his charges officially September 15th. Brother Tad can meet his any old time he decides is proper and the Yale custom is some time during the final days of August. Some of Howard's players usually fail to report until the University opens about the first of October. The Yale squad is usually complete within a day or two of the time the first man reports.

Iowa may play a game before it leaves Iowa City on its treck to New Haven. Yale has three games scheduled before it tackles the Hawkeyes, its first game being with Bates, September 23 and Carnegie Tech and North Carolina following. Iowa has no game scheduled and it is the hardest sort of a proposition to find a suitable early season game. Knox occupied the place on the 1920 Iowa schedule and probably will not care to repeat the experiment, even if invited to the slaughter by Coach Jones.

Physically, western followers of football believe Iowa has little to fear from the easterners. They point out that Yale will not know what to do with Gordon Locke if he is going right when he takes his plunges into the blue line. Iowa will have speed in the back field that eastern teams seldom see, speed that Yale does not consider a part of the game although Aldrich had some of its properties. Defensively it is pointed out that the Yale attack will look like Princeton's did to Chicago because the Hawkeyes have been used to a more varied and deceptive offense. Physically the west has nothing to fear but Yale's additional weeks of training and games should give it an edge that only absolute superiority on the part of Iowa can overcome.

STAR PLAYER OUT OF GAME

Kludt Not To Be in Lineup For Glendive Basketball Contest

The second team will travel to Hazen Friday to play the high school team there. The Hazen team has been a consistent winner this season but the second team expects to check its winning streak. Jesse Scroggins, Art Nathan and Halloran will take care of the guarding while Brown or Nuessle will take care of the pivot position.

As a preliminary to Thursday's game with Glendive the high school midgets will play the North Ward grade school team. The Midgets are captained by Terrible Eddie Hoover, who takes care of right wing. "Gab" Brown who plays the other forward. "Mut" Robideau and Wilson guards while Jack Livdahl covers the pivot position. The Midgets have developed a rapid passing game and they promise to offer a very interesting demonstration of team work Thursday.

A. M. Cleland To Retire Soon From N. P. Service

St. Paul, Dec. 19—A. M. Cleland, general passenger traffic manager of the Northern Pacific, will retire from the railroad business in which he has been one of the leading figures in the Northwest for nearly two decades, it was announced Saturday. The veteran passenger expert probably will end his railroad career about December 31 and later will go to California.

No successor has been named and Mr. Cleland's retirement does not become effective until one is selected. That is expected within two weeks.

A. D. Charlton, general agent with headquarters at Portland, Ore., has been mentioned as the probable appointee to succeed Mr. Cleland.

The growth of the passenger business from its infancy has been witnessed by Mr. Cleland whose entire career has been in the railroad business. Since he entered the Northern Pacific service in 1891 as assistant city ticket agent, Mr. Cleland has seen annual passenger earnings of that road grow from $3,000,000 to $21,000,000 a year.

Mr. Cleland was born in Alliance, Ohio, in 1862. He began his railroad career there as a ticket agent, going to Chicago in 1881 where he remained ten years until coming to the Northern Pacific at St. Paul. In 1891, Mr. Cleland was transferred to the general offices and in 1896 became chief clerk in the Northern Pacific passenger department.

In February, 1901, he was made assistant general passenger and ticket agent and in April, 1904, was promoted to general passenger agent. He served in the Federal wartime organization and in April, 1920 was made passenger traffic manager.
